My Story

Howdy, I'm Tyler Hopkins, and I've got a tale to share that'll give you a glimpse into my heart for dogs. Born in Detroit, Michigan, my journey started rough, bouncing through foster care until finding solace in a tiny Yorkie/Pomeranian mix named Bitsea. Together, we learned the body language of love and obedience. My path took me to the military, cut short by injury, but it led to a newfound mission: training service dogs. Freyja, my first Cane Corso service dog, sparked a passion for helping dogs find purpose and joy. With over a thousand pups under my wing, I've mastered the art of training with love, not discipline. Let's build bonds and spread wagging tails together!
